PUBLIC LECTURE

UN/Diaspora relief in a famine-stricken country: the case of Greece, c.1945-7

by Dr. Flora Tsilaga

March 13, 2008: The Hellenic Heritage Foundation announces a free public lecture to be held at the Greek Community of Metropolitan Toronto Inc., 30 Thorncliffe Park Drive, Toronto on Sunday, April 13th, 2008 at 4:00 p.m.

Dr. Flora Tsilaga is a visiting professor who has been delivering the programme in Modern Greek Studies in History at York University while an international search is conducted for a new Hellenic Heritage Foundation Chair in Modern Greek Studies. Dr. Flora Tsilaga completed her BA in Education (with distinction) from the University of Patras in 1997, her MA in Mediterranean Studies at King's College, University of London in 1999 and her PhD in Modern Greek History, also from King's in 2006. A native speaker of Greek, Flora is also fluent in English and holds an advanced certificate in French language.

This lecture is open to all interested participants. A reception with light refreshments will follow the lecture, courtesy of Mr. Greek Restaurants.
